To the DAILY GAZETTEER.

—Ab uno
Discit omnes—

SIR,

April 21.

BEG, for the Sake of Truth, you would re-publish the following, which is in the Daily Advertiser of this Day.

It appears by a Letter in the Gazetteer of the 17th Instant, dated from Cambridge, that one Mr. Strutt (now deceas'd) was guilty of the crying Sin of being, about five Years ago, in Company with a Gentleman of that University who has since been expell'd for Atheism: It further appears, that the said Mr. Strutt was Author of a Pamphlet, entitled A Philosophical Enquiry, and likewise of several Letters published in the Craftsman. Mr. D'Anvers, the Author of that Paper, takes the Alarm at this Accusation, and imagining, that to be thought ever to have had a Correspondence with Mr. Strutt might be disadvantageous to him, he immediately cries out, I know not the Man.

THE very extraordinary Postscript in his last Saturday's Paper surpris'd me; and I was sorry to find, that a Person who had for so many Years supported a Paper upon the Principles of Publick Virtue, should descend so low as to give up an Acquaintance and Ally thro' private Prejudice. Had Mr. D'Anvers been honest enough to publish only the Truth, I should have spar'd the Publick and myself the Trouble of the following Observations.

Mr. D'Anvers observes in his Postscript, 'That no Writer of a Weekly Paper is answerable for the Religious Opinions of his unknown Correspondent upon Civil Affairs.' Had he stopp'd here, he had said no more than became a Gentleman, and an honest Man; but he goes on in these Words, 'These Letters were privately sent to the Printer of the Craftsman about the Time mention'd, and publish'd there during my Absence from Town.' A Letter under Mr. D'Anvers's own Hand has luckily fell into mine, which will convince the Publick of the Falshood of this Assertion. The Letter is directed

To Samuel Strutt, of the Inner-Temple, Esq;

SIR,

Having been for some Time out of Town, I did not receive yours till a Day or two ago. The late Elections have retarded the Publication of your excellent Letters on the Independency of Parliament; but that Subject being now exhausted as far as it can be at present, your Papers will naturally follow, and the first will be publish'd on this Day se'nights. We are much oblig'd to you for this, and all other Favours, which shall be ever acknowledged by,

SIR,

Your most obedient, and

Saturday, Aug.

Most humble Servt,

31. 1734.

N. Amhurst.

I think it plainly appears, that these Papers were not (as he would meanly insinuate) privately sent, since by his own Letter it is evident he knew who the Author was; and so far from being publish'd during his Absence from Town, that he himself appointed the Publication of them after his Return.—What can we think of this Man's Integrity!

Mr. D'Anvers proceeds, and officiously informs us, that Mr. Strutt's Papers were so much difflik'd, that they were left out of the Seven last Volumes of the Craftsman. 'Tis strange that Papers which in the above Letter Mr. D'Anvers styles excellent, and for which he expresseth such great Obligations, and promises ever to acknowledge, should afterwards become so bad as to be banish'd his Collection; altho' he allows they were mistaken for the Productions of the greatest Genius of the Age, viz. the Author of the Dissertation upon Parties.—Had Mr. D'Anvers been ingenuous, he would have confess'd, that the Reputation those Papers gain'd had highly disgusted him, and that his Jealousy of their Merit was the Cause of their not being inserted in his Collection, lest their superior Lustre should extinguish his own feebler Essays on that important Subject.

Mr. D'Anvers is hardy enough to deny his having an Intimacy or Friendship with Mr. Strutt. I know not what this Gentleman may judge Marks of Intimacy or Friendship; but if frequent Meetings, if an Epistolary Correspondence in which there appears the strongest Assurances of Respect and Esteem, are any, Mr. D'Anvers must either have had an Intimacy or Friendship with Mr. Strutt, or else confess himself the most arrant Hypocrite that ever profess'd them: For there is now in my Possession a Paquet of Mr. D'Anvers's Letters to Mr. Strutt, which any Man ought to blush to have written, who had not a very particular Respect for the Person to whom they are inscrib'd.

I know not what political Reasons could induce Mr. D'Anvers so industriously to disclaim an Acquaintance, which (from all I knew or have heard of the late Mr. Strutt) he ought rather to boast of, than blush at. Is it because it appears that Mr. Strutt was in Company with a Gentleman who has since been expell'd the University? If so, by what I am inform'd, Mr. D'Anvers's Company cannot be held to be the most creditable. But whatever Mr. Strutt's Religious Principles were, it is evident Mr. D'Anvers's Moral Principles want much rectifying: And I think that Man must with an ill Grace blame the Opinions of another, whose own Practice is so very erroneous.

I shall leave Mr. D'Anvers with this Hint, That the Man who can so easily sacrifice a Friend, does not deserve one: And advise him, the next Time he attempts to assuage the Memory of a deceas'd Ally and Correspondent, to take Care not to be detected in such palpable and scandalous falsehoods.

THUS much (to use the Words of Mr. D'Anvers) I thought myself oblig'd to say, which is the whole Truth; and therefore I will say no more.—Let Mr. D'Anvers make the best of it.

Yours,

CAPRIUS.

N. B. If Mr. D'Anvers has any Doubt concerning his Letters above-mention'd, he shall have any further Satisfaction concerning them he pleases.—Vous m'intendez bien, Signor Amhurst.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Flanders and another from France, with the Paris Letter of Wednesday last, containing the following Account in a Letter from Geneva, dated the 4th Instant O. S.

THE Marquis de Mallebois, the French General, having been with a Party to take a View of Monte Maggiore, and advancing a little too near that Post, the Rebels fired upon them, and wounded an Officer and 4 Soldiers. The General observing that the Mountain was enclos'd with Olive Trees, which render'd the Approaches to it difficult, and exposed the French to frequent Insults, caused about 600 of them to be cut down, which had so much incensed the Rebels, that after having harassed the French in that Operation by frequent Skirmishes, they burnt 5 or 6 Houses at Monte Maggiore, belonging to People that were come over to the French, who have promised them a proper Reparation at the Expence of the Incendiaries. 'Tis observed that the Certificats seem more and more exasperated against the French and Genoese, and that the Island is in Danger of being utterly ruined; for the Rebels are assembled near Balagna, to the Number of above 16,000 Men, well arm'd, and resolved to make a stout Defence; which, if they do, Monte Maggiore will not be very easily taken. The Republick has sent off a Galley to Baffa with Money for the Pay of the Genoese Troops.

The Paris Letter says, that the First Prince's Dowager of Coni continues so ill, that last Tuesday se'nights she received all the Sacraments.

It concludes with Advice from Rome, That the Electoral Prince of Saxony had actually bespoke a Summer Livery, from whence 'tis conjectur'd, to pass the Season in that City; and that the King his Father had sent him a Remittance of 30,000 Roman Crowns.

Florence, March 23. O. S. The Electress Palatine Dowager is so ill of an Oppression upon her Lungs that 'tis thought she will never recover. 'Tis said that she has made her Will, whereby she makes the Great Duke her Heir, and the King of France her Executor.

Stockholm, April 2. O. S. Deputies are appointed to confer with Mr. Finch, the British Minister, about some Disputes that have happen'd between the two Crowns on account of the Seizure made in the East Indies of a Swedish Ship by the English. The Archbishop of Uppsal, who bestirr'd himself very much in favour of the Senators lately degraded from their Employments, has taken Peas, and is determined to secede from the Dyer before it breakes up.

Berlin, April 10. O. S. The Privy Counsellor Wilkers, who was detain'd in Prison near 12 Months, having been convicted of Malpractices in the Management of the Finances of the New Marquise, the King was willing to make an Example of him, and has condemn'd him to be whipp'd, and then sent to the Spandau to work at the Wheebarrow for his Life.

Leipzick, April 20. Anthony Count de Lurzelbourg, General and Minister of the Cabinet to the King of Poland, died the 7th Instant at Dresden in the 69th Year of his Age. The Baron de Pollnitz says in his Memoirs, that he was Lieutenant General of the King's Forces, General of the Horse, and Knight of the Order of the White Eagle; that he was a Native of Lorraine, and an exemplary Professor of the Romish Religion; that he was the King's Governor after the Decesse of the Count de Cotta, till his Majesty came of Age, when he was appointed Steward of the Household, and was as much esteemed by their Royal Highnesses as he is valued by the Courtiers and beloved by the Domesticks of the Prince who were under his Command; but that his frequent Ailments obliged him to quit that Office; and that he concluded the last Treaty of Alliance betwixt his Polish Majesty and the Emperor at Vienna.

Moscow, March 19. O. S. This City, which two Years ago was reduced to Ashes, is in great Part rebuilt. There are already 14 fine Streets whose Houses are for most part regularly built of Stone, whereas formerly they were of Timber, and irregular. The Damage occasioned by the Fire at Jaroslaw is also almost intirely rebuilt. A Courier is dispatched to carry the News of the Count de Munich's Arrival at Kiow, and of the Dispositions he is making for opening the next Campaign.

The only true Specifick Chymical LIQUOR, For Dissolving and bringing away the Stone, whether in the Kidneys, Ureters or Bladder; and for instantly curing the Strangury, and all Heat, Pain, Stoppage, or Difficulty in making Water.

THE very first Dose of it gives perfect Ease in a Moment, even in the most racking Pains of either STONE or GRAVEL, and at once entirely frees the Patient from the STRANGURY, and all Heat, Pain and Stoppage of Urine; it dilates the Ureters, makes them slippery, that the Crumblings of large Stones, together with Sand and Gravel, may pass freely from the Reins, and be voided visibly with Urine without Pain; effectually cleanses the Kidneys, Bladder, and all Urinary Passages from gritty calulous Matter; heals all internal Excoriations or Soreness of the Parts, directly takes off all Pain in the Back, and those Pains so much like the Cholick, and may be depended upon to dissolve large Stones, so as infallibly to cure that most miserable Distemper.

It gives such sudden and unspeakable Relief, that who ever takes but one Dose of it, will be thoroughly convinced of its surprising Efficacy, which many Hundreds have happily experienced to their infinite Satisfaction.

It is such an agreeable Diuretic and powerful Dissolvent, that it infallibly prevents the Stone in those who are troubled with Gravel only; and for the perfect Cure of either Stone or Gravel, and all Disorders of the Kidneys, Ureters, or Bladder, occasioned thereby, is the only true Specifick Remedy that can be surely and safely rely'd upon, as it gives instant Ease as soon as taken, (even when nothing else will) and infallibly accomplishes a perfect Cure without the least Trouble, being pleasant to the Palate, agreeable to the Stomach, and comforting to the whole Body. It is to be had only at Jacob's Coffee-house against the Angel and Crown Tavern in Broad-street, behind the Royal Exchange, at 3s. 6d. a Bottle, with Directions at large.
